

Infama!

Greg LaRocque and Angelo Furlan present
SINNAMON'S arch-rival in her own Mini-Series!

We at Catfish Comics are flipping our fins over this one! Artist Greg LaRocque (The Flash with Mark Waid, among his other mainstream credits), has jumped onboard to draw INFAMA, a three issue mini-series starting this May. The buxom brunette bombshell has left the Sisterhood, only to discover that breaking up is hard to do. Is her gem powerful enough to fend off the Sisterhood's strike force? Before the series ends, the secrets of that gem will be revealed, much to Infama's surprise!

Infama co-creator Angelo Furlan writes the story, and the other co-creator, M. Gerald Delaney makes his presence felt with a poster of Infama, Sinnamon, and the Sisterhood that stretches over all three back covers - collect the entire series to see this masterpiece in all its glory! Collectors can also look forward to a variant foil logo edition which will be offered alongside the regular.

Fans of Greg LaRocque's impressive body of work realize he'll ensure that INFAMA takes the "Bad Girl" genre up to a new level of quality. All Catfish books available from Diamond and SyCo. Look in their respective catalogs under "Catfish Comics".

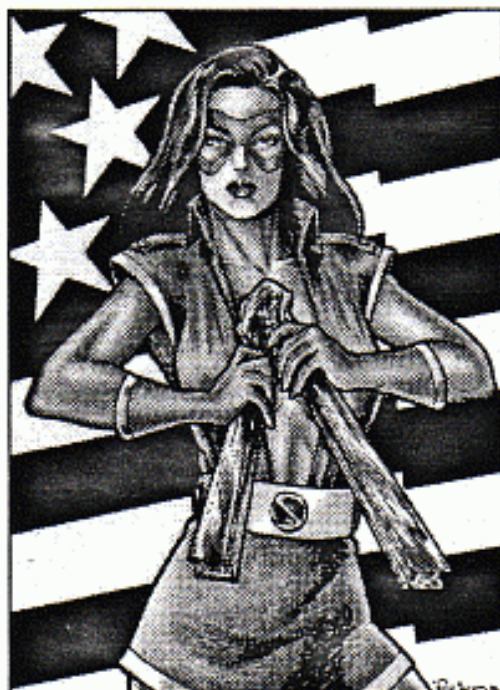

The Sinnamon Archives #1: Taking a Fun Look Back!

What if SINNAMON had been created during the 1940's, and her adventures were published for 16 years with the character evolving to suit the times?

Angelo Furlan, Nick Poliwko (who drew the Golden Age Sinnamon pictured, right), and Glenn McEvoy take a fun-filled trip through the past to present three tales from a past that never happened. Or did it? The additional text pieces about the history of Peerless Comics add to the fun and add a warped sense of reality to the proceedings.

The comic stories are the highlights! Thrill to the Golden Age Sinnamon's dire predicament "At The Mercy of Emma Hitler"! Swoon to Jungle Queen Sinn-Dy and her "Battle Against The Bronze Bobcat"! Gasp at the Wild West Sinnamon's "Nightmare At Noon!"

It's a fun-filled unique tribute to classic comics! Ships in April!

Don't forget to pick up SINNAMON #10 (shipping in April). Our heroine goes up against a 30 foot tall foe in a battle we had to call "Twas Beauty Bashed The Beast!" Contact us at:
